Grenada Farmers Need Pasture and More Livestock

Soils and Climate of Grenada County Are Well Adapted To Pastures.

(By J. L. Cooley, County Agent)

Better permanent pastures afford most economical feed for livestock. Good pastures are an important part of any system of permanent and profitable farming and are essential to the economical production of livestock. On the Grenada county farm of Mr. W. F. Martin is located the best pasture in the State of Mississippi. The soils and climate of Grenada county are well adapted to pastures. The farmers of Grenada county must grow more livestock. We can not produce cotton as economically as Texas, the Delta sections of Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas, and foreign countries. We can't live and pay taxes on six cent cotton. When farmers establish good permanent pastures, they are practicing better farming through the production of better and cheaper feeds and serve as one of the most effective means of preventing erosion and conserving soil fertility.

AAA Encourages Pastures

The establishment of permanent pastures is regarded by agricultural leaders as of such importance that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is offering farmers payment of $3.00 per acre under the 1937 Soil Conservation Program for planting pastures. Payments are also offered for terracing and fertilizing pastures with Blue Slag (lime and phosphate fertilizer). The following seeding mixture is recommended:

Dallis Grass (perennial) 3 lbs. per acre.

Bermuda (seed or seed) 3 lbs. per acre.

Yellow Top Clover 3 lbs. per acre.

Lespedeza 12 lbs. per acre.

Martin Farm Offers Seed Supply 4,000 pounds of yellow top clover were saved last summer on the farm of Mr. W. F. Martin. Recently a good crop of Dallis (perennial) Grass hay has been cut and baled. The seed were allowed to ripen on this hay and will serve as an economical source for planting purposes. This hay can be purchased or the owner has agreed to exchange this hay for other hay, cow peas or soybeans with the farmers of Grenada county desiring to plant pastures. The top clover seed are available through the Grenada County Cooperative at the Cold Storage Plant. All interested farmers are advised to consult Mr. Martin or their county agent.

Harley E. Erb to Attend Scout Meet

Harley E. Erb, Regional Scout Executive of Memphis, will attend the Executive Scout Council in Greenville, Tuesday, October 19th.

This is the first time Mr. Erb has visited the Delta Council since he became Regional Executive of Region 3 which includes the States of Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, Arkansas, and Alabama," said J. B. Plaut, of Swan Lake, President of the Delta Council.

Mr. Erb was formerly assistant to the director of the Division of Operations of the Boy Scouts of America in New York City and has had a wide experience in a volunteer and professional capacity.

Football Game Here Friday

The Grenada High School football team will play Sardinia here Friday afternoon. The game will be played on Phelan Field and will begin promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

Go out and show your support of the team and see them win.

Miss Minta Dawson

Blue Mountain, Miss., Oct. 14.—Miss Minta Dawson, of Grenada, was admitted to the Classical Club of Blue Mountain College at its regular monthly meeting. Dr. Lucy Watkins, professor of Latin, is sponsor of the Club.

Congressman Ford Returns to Washington to Work For Farm Legislation

Ackerman, Miss., Oct. 9.—Special Representative A. L. Ford of Ackerman left today for Washington where he plans to appear before the Agricultural Committee of the House and Senate prior to the convening of Congress and there present his views and those of a large number of farmers of his district when those committees begin drafting legislation to present to the next Congress. Immediately after returning to the district upon adjournment of the last session of Congress, Mr. Ford announced a series of meetings in every county in his district and he has spoken to and talked with more than ten thousand farmers in the ten counties comprising his district. He stated that he found the farmers of his district overwhelmingly opposed to compulsory crop control legislation and overwhelmingly opposed to the "Base Acreage Allotment" arrangements heretofore placed in operation by the department of agriculture.

Congressman Ford said before leaving that inasmuch as this country's 150 year supremacy in World Cotton Markets has been lost in the last five years to foreign countries the United States Government must take steps to regain our position in the World Markets, otherwise the American Cotton Farmer is doomed.

Mr. Ford said there was only

"For Busy Women Only" Presented B. and P. W. Club

Steadily mounting interest in personal and public health was the keynote of the play, "For Busy Women Only," presented by members of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the State Board of Health Saturday.

A direct outgrowth of this year's B. and P. W. Club theme, "Our Town's Business," the play showed the marked extent to which the prosperity of a community depends on the health of its citizens.

"For Busy Women Only" was given by Miss Gladys Eyrich, supervisor of mouth health, State Board of Health; Miss Marcia Gibbs, teacher in the WMCA Vocational Part-time School; Mrs. Horne Vaughan, director of La Jeunesse, the first Children's Theatre in Mississippi; and Miss Ruth Virden of the Lamar Life Insurance Company.

Related was the business woman's responsibility for first her own health then, in turn, community health conditions and assistance to those unable to help themselves.

The business woman is more alert and capable and, in the long run, saves time and money if she has regular, complete physical examination similar to that required by State Board of Health employees; vaccination against smallpox; Schick test for diphtheria, X-ray of chest, and Wassermann test, all every five years; immunization against typhoid every two years; dental examination annually; dental X-ray every three years; thorough medical examination annually.

Recognizing its community obligations, the B. and P. W. Club has contributed yearly to the playground fund for the city, repaired and replaced playground equipment for the Day Nursery and donated yearly to the Community Hospital.

The health committee of the B. and P. W. Club heartily approves the public health program in Mississippi and advocates an increase in appropriations for the State Board of Health as well as adequate support for the Sanatorium and Preventorium and an appropriation to match Federal funds for the control of syphilis. It also favors a sufficiently stringent dog law to protect human beings and animals from the horrible disease, rabies.

The B. and P. W. play, like Aeschylus' fables, concluded with a moral: "What fools indeed we mortals are to lavish care upon a car, with never a bit of time to see about our own machinery!"

one permanent solution for our cotton problem and that was to devise some way of selling cotton in competition with the foreign producers of cotton. He said the farmers alone cannot do this with the price of everything they purchase fixed by high tariffs, and the only thing that will prove a solution in a permanent way is for the government to take the benefits now being paid to the farmers for reducing their acreage as well as the import duties collected by tariffs, and if necessary, add a processing tax, so as to provide ample funds by which the government can purchase all of the cotton not consumed in this country and then place it on the foreign markets at a loss in order to compete with and undersell producers of cotton in foreign countries.

Representative Ford said he would urge before the Committees on Agriculture, as a permanent plan, unlimited and uncontrolled production, the United States Government to purchase all cotton not consumed domestically, at a minimum price of twelve cents per pound, thus forcing domestic manufacturers to pay the same price for domestically consumed cotton, thereby assuring the Cotton Farmers of America a minimum of twelve cent per pound on all cotton produced by them. After the government has made this purchase it then adopt the policy of selling its cotton to foreign manufacturers and foreign countries, at a loss if necessary, in an effort to compete with or undersell producers of cotton in foreign countries and at the same time recapture our foreign markets. With this plan it will be necessary to broaden and extend the tariff of seven cents per pound now imposed on all cotton measuring one and one-eighth inch staple so that the tariff will then apply to all cotton which might be imported from foreign countries. This plan would give the American cotton farmer more purchasing power and it would be only a very short time until our domestic consumption would show a large increase.

Mr. Ford further stated: "Permanent Solution To Cotton Problem Does Not Lie In Crop Control"

As a result of experimentation of crop control legislation since 1933 we have seen the production of cotton in foreign countries increase by leaps and bounds and have also witnessed the destruction of our foreign markets. It is contrary to all good reason to believe that we can control the price of cotton in this country by reducing our acreage when the foreign production of cotton has increased one hundred per centum in the last five years and especially so since the farmers in the foreign (Please turn to page 4)

Mrs. Mary Combs York, 80 Years of Age, Passes Away

Was Former Grenada Resident, Moving to Charleston About 15 Years Ago.

Mrs. Mary Combs York, mother of F. S. York, of Grenada, died at her home in Charleston early Wednesday morning.

Had she lived until December 1, she would have celebrated her 80th birthday. Mrs. York made her home here in Grenada together with her husband, the late S. York, and family for several years, moving to Charleston about fifteen years ago. She was a member of the Christian Church.

Funeral services were conducted here Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of her son, F. S. York, with Dr. J. J. Walker, Christian Minister, of Memphis, officiating. Pallbearers were Mike and Glen York, of Tutwiler, Frank York, Jr., of Grenada, Ellis York, of Oxford, Gilbert York, of Carrollton, and Champ Stevens, of Memphis, all grandsons.

Mrs. York is survived by three sons, F. S. York, of Grenada, C. V. York, of Memphis, and W. L. York, of Tutwiler; and two daughters, Mrs. Henry Lenow and Mrs. Henry Davis, both of Memphis.

To the sorrowing relatives The Sentinel extends sympathy.

4-H STYLE QUEEN

Billie G. Felder, 16, of Summit, Miss., is the year's state 4-H "Style Queen," being chosen for the honor by Extension Leaders at the annual club week at State College. Her costume, which she made and modeled, features a Copenhagen blue all-wool flannel suit with shell pink, silk lace crepe blouse and accessories to match. Including a $2.00 hat and $5.00 shoes it cost $17.29. She will represent the state's 25,000 club girls in the National 4-H Style Revue to be held in Chicago, December 1, as a feature of the 16th National 4-H Club Congress, to which she receives an all-expense trip from the Chicago Mail Order Company. Helen Allen of Vicksburg was last year's state entry.

Dr. Wm. P. Ferguson

(By W. E. Boushe)

"Should old acquaintance be forgotten?" Once more as we turn the pages of our memory album, we linger upon the mental pictures of our old and esteemed friend, Dr. W. P. Ferguson, familiarly called by those who knew him best, "Prince." Often have you heard the phrase, "what's in a name?" Dr. Ferguson's name "Prince," is not a misnomer. A Prince by name, a Prince at heart. As old Capt. Jim Crowder used to love to say of him, he was one of Nature's noble men. Dr. Ferguson came with his father as a young man from Carroll county to Grenada county. At once he became entrenched in the hearts of those who esteem lofty thought and principles and became a moving figure in civic affairs of our community. Few efforts to further our welfare socially or economically but what he could be found as an important figure. His father operated a livery, sale and feed stable at the corner of Line and Church, which upon his death was taken over by the young son, Prince. This was just in keeping with Dr. Ferguson's heart for not only as you, he loved his fellowman. He also much loved dumb animals and it was from this beginning he gradually became a Veterinarian. He loved fine horses and cows, and dearly loved a good dog, and when in his profession, he was called to minister to them, one could easily see he had found the mission the Lord had intended and he filled that mission well.

Dr. Ferguson in early life married a Mrs. Moody, a most excellent lady, one whom the writer of this article thought a great deal of. She by her former marriage, was the mother of Miss Hersey Moody, now Mrs. Carson, of Los Angeles, California. Mrs. Carson is well known and pleasantly remembered by all the older citizens of our town. She has a heart of gold, delights in doing good. It is with her that Dr. Prince Ferguson now makes his home. Dr. Ferguson served as alderman of Grenada, also a short while as mayor. Every position of trust ever to come his way, he filled acceptably. He did much to promote our county affairs. He was always active in

To Hold Educational Conference At University of Mississippi October 20th

The following is a notice from Superintendent J. S. Vandiver of the Educational Conference to be held at various places over the State. The place to which the Grenada county delegation will attend is the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Miss., on Wednesday, October 20.

Upon reading Mr. Vandiver's letter it will be observed that a special invitation is extended to trustees of schools, school board members, supervisors, members of the legislature, and P. T. A. members to participate in the conference. The matters to be discussed at that meeting are of vital interest to the school financing program and to the improvement of instruction. I hope that Grenada county will have a large representation at the University on October 20.

Sincerely yours,
O. D. Spradlin, Supt. Educ.
Grenada County, Mississippi.

Educational Conferences

We have arranged a series of Educational Conferences for the State as follows:

Monday, October 18, State College.

Tuesday, October 19, Tupelo.

Wednesday, October 20, University.

Thursday, October 21, Delta State Teachers College.

Friday, October 22, Millsaps College.

Monday, October 25, Brookhaven.

Tuesday, October 26, Hattiesburg.

Wednesday, October 27, Meridian.

The primary purpose of these Conferences is to stimulate interest in the program of instruction. Other aims of the Conference are Group Conferences to deal with matters of special importance to the Groups and the Inspirational meetings at the close of the day. The Inspirational address will be given by Reverend W. C. Newman, Pastor of the First Methodist Church, Gulfport, Miss.

We are very eager to have a full attendance of the county superintendents, superintendents of separate school districts, superintendents of consolidated schools, members of college faculties, both junior and senior, members of the legislature, members of boards of supervisors, vocational teachers, adult education workers, school trustees, P. T. A. workers, bus drivers, and other interested citizens.

At each conference the program will begin promptly at 9:30. Please be on time. The program before

Debt Adjustment Body in Grenada County Plans Meet

Chairman Invites Debt-Burdened Farmers To Participate

W. W. Whitaker, of Grenada, chairman of the Grenada county farm debt adjustment committee announced today that farmers facing complicated debt problems and possible foreclosure are invited to submit their case to the committee for possible adjustment and solution when the body meets in a regular session at Grenada Thursday, October 21. The meeting will be held at the F. S. A. office and will begin at 10 a. m.

The chairman pointed out that either the farm debtor or a creditor may seek adjustment assistance. The services are free and the committee proceedings and information presented are treated confidentially.

The committee acts as arbitrator in bringing debtor and creditor together in working out new agreements that will benefit all concerned and enable the farmer to carry on.

Committees in the region embracing Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana have successfully assisted over 10,000 farmers in finding solutions to their debt problems through adjustment. Seventy-one out of every 100 cases submitted to the committees have been successfully adjusted.

The Farm Security Administration, successor to the Resettlement Administration, coordinated and directs the work of farm debt adjustment committees.

soon will feature instruction. We want all to assemble in the main auditorium. Professor D. R. Patterson, Director of Instruction, State Department of Education, will be in charge of the program each morning. He desires a round-table discussion of the Instructional Program. This round-table discussion will be led by a representative of the P. T. A., Messrs. Jobe and McKee of the State Department of Education, and Dr. Henry Harap, Consultant of the Curriculum Program from Peabody College. The morning meetings will adjourn at 11:40.

In the afternoon, Group Conferences will be held from 1:00 p. m. to 2:15 p. m. All school men are requested to meet with Mr. Patterson. Vocational agricultural teachers will meet with Mr. Hubbard and Miss Wallace. Adult education teachers will meet with Messrs. Anderson and Pickens and Miss Crawford. The P. T. A. workers will meet with the leaders of the P. T. A. Trustees, bus drivers and other interested citizens will meet with W. G. Eckles and J. S. Vandiver.

The Inspirational session will be from 2:20 to 3:30. Brief statements by M. P. Bush, President of the M. E. A., and J. S. Vandiver, State Superintendent of Education, will be made preceding the Inspirational address of Dr. Newman. Adjournment promptly at 3:30.

Scouters University Cleveland, Miss. Oct. 17 To Nov. 7th

You Will Enjoy The Fellowship Of Men From All Parts Of The Delta

It will be of interest to those who are Scout leaders in any capacity to read the announcement from the Delta Area Council of Boy Scouts of America relative to the Scouters University to be held at Delta State Teachers College, Cleveland, Miss., beginning on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, October 17 and continuing each Sunday until November 7. Grenada Scouters should take due notice of those meetings and attend some of them, if not all of them.

Your Opportunity To Serve Youth! No matter how inexperienced you are in working with boys, no matter how old you are, or how busy you are—YOU ARE INVITED TO THE FIRST SCOUTERS UNIVERSITY conducted by the Delta Area Council. You will enjoy the fellowship of men from all parts of the Delta—men who are interested in doing something to help a boy.

Purpose of University

In order to meet the demand of Scout Leaders throughout the Council for additional training, three courses in the National Five-Year Training Program of Scouting will be conducted simultaneously. The courses to be presented are: Elements of Scout Leadership—Part I; Principles of Scout Leadership, and Elements of Cub Leadership.

Several outstanding educators of the Delta will assist with the courses, in addition to a group of experienced Scouters and the Executive Staff of the Council.

The Leadership Training Committee believed that this method of presenting courses will not only challenge the interest of new men for service but will provide opportunity for our present leadership to increase their knowledge of the program and thus enable them more effectively to lead boys.

Courses To Be Offered

Elements of Scout Leadership—Part I. Principles of Scout Leadership. Elements of Cub Leadership. Recognition.

Certificates from the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be issued to all who complete any of the courses listed.

Upon completion of five years successful service, and the following courses, a Scoutmaster is eligible to receive the SCOUTMASTER'S KEY.

Elements of Scout Leadership Parts I and II, Principles of Scout Leadership, Principles of Fire, Aid, the Advanced Certificate, and Specialization Courses, two weeks

Fairs Of State As Means Of Parading New, Progress Era

Community, County, District Fairs, Culminate in Greatest State Fair in Exposition

Successful agriculture, expanding industry, and the forward looking viewpoint of Mississippi people are combined this year to produce probably the finest succession of fairs in the history of the State, writes J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture.

1937 has been one of the most successful years of them all from the standpoint of agricultural production, thinks the farm commissioner. The cotton crop is estimated as the largest of them all. Yields of corn are expected to considerably exceed recent outputs per acre. There are fine pastures, home gardens, and hay crops, so agricultural production this year is close to an all-time record.

"The movement to industrialize Mississippi is proceeding rapidly. New factories are providing employment to Mississippi workers and utilize Mississippi farm products, and in all portions of the state attractions are being offered to potential industries. All of this means that fairs have become windows of Mississippi's progress in agriculture and industry, health and education.

"Fairs have been held successfully since late summer, are in progress now, and still more fairs are scheduled. The number is larger than ever before. The quality and variety of exhibits and attendance records indicate that Mississippi is 'fair-minded,' determined upon a course of progress and development, and is parading accomplishments and possibilities to increase interest at home and attract interest from abroad.

"The Mississippi State Fair is showing to record crowds. Old buildings have been modernized and the Hugh White Industrial Building is just one of the numerous new buildings. Exhibits of agriculture, industry, and commerce, a mammoth parade every day, superior amusement and entertainment features, all are united to make the Mississippi State Fair the center of attraction during the week October 11-16.

"As never before Mississippi is aware of near limitless opportunities and resources for development into a great agro-industrial empire. Advertising conscious, the present medium of publicity is fairs—community, county, district and state. They serve an extremely useful purpose, and this successful season means another step towards the desired end."

American Legion To Have Banquet

The Grenada Post of the American Legion will give a banquet next Thursday night, October 21, at 7:30 o'clock at the Community House. All Grenada county VETERANS are cordially invited and urged to attend. State Commander Adron Boyd, will be there and will have a worthwhile message for all the boys.

H. C. Wilson, Commander, Grenada Post, said, "we are looking for a large attendance and there will be plenty of eats and entertainment for all Grenada county veterans."

There will be no admission charge.

Cotton

Census report shows that there were 5,878 bales of cotton ginned in Grenada county from the crop of 1937 prior to October 1, as compared with 7,212 bales ginned to October 1, crop of 1936.

In camp with his troop.

A Scoutmaster's Training Award is given to other commissioned Scout Leader who complete the above courses and serve five years.

Note—No charge will be made for the courses and the purchase of literature is optional.

Respectfully,
Delta Area Council,
Boy Scouts of America,
Clarksdale, Miss.

EDITORIAL

WANTED: More Football Fans.

In our opinion Grenada, the city beautiful, is a scrumptious municipality. Why, in such a town won't more than an average of thirty adults come to see their high school varsity play.

During this season, a game scheduled to be played here was transferred to a smaller town because the attendance here did not justify the expense of the game. More Grenada people attended that game than attended home games. Does this show the proper cooperative spirit of Grenada?

Our boys deserve your patronage.

USE THE GYMNASIUM!

The Grenada High School gymnasium is a definite asset to our school in that it is the finest of its kind in North Central Mississippi. This building, obtained through the Works Project Administration and Grenada High School fund, cost approximately $18,250.

This building was erected to be used for more than one purpose. Originally it was planned that it should be used to house the athletic department and the band; to provide recreational activities at the noon hour; and, practice in various sports after school hours.

So far these plans have not materialized to a satisfactory degree. Not enough pupils participate in the many activities offered by the building and the athletic department. Few students derive any benefit from the gymnasium at the noon hour. Each class should have an organized group of boys and girls to take various forms of exercise at the noon hour and after school. Coach Hathorn urges that each pupil use up the excess energy which he naturally stores in his body by taking some form of exercise. Why not make this exercise organized for the benefit and advancement of the school and under the supervision of trained day directors?

At the present only about thirty out of the two hundred and sixty-seven pupils of the high school are receiving athletic training. Students, the school furnishes everything except the brawn; you must do that.

The school greatly appreciates the gift of a score board by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. More students should use this building, if for no other reason than to show their appreciation of the gymnasium and its equipment.

You should take advantage of your opportunities. Are you a laggard?

SAFETY

"Ain' nothin' passin' Mist' Junior on de road, but fus' news dat boy know, he gwinter fin' hisse' ridin' so slow ev'rythin' be passin' him."
—From Hambone's Meditations by Alley.

The promotion of safety is an essential to the welfare of the community. Grenada High School has maintained, for the past two years, a safety council whose duty has been to protect the approaches to the school premises. The eight boys composing the council have the deputized power to arrest offenders to public safety on the streets adjoining school property.

This year the council will be increased. They will be on duty within the buildings as well as without. The school offers all possible protection while you are at school.

The school appeals to its students to observe at home the same reasonable regulations that are enforced within the school. The safer driving campaign is aimed largely at the high school student. It is to your benefit that you abide by the laws of safety at all times.

Safety is the product of thinking. Are you a thinker?

Coach Hathorn's Message

Do You Know—

That one month of the school session has passed?

That there are 78 pupils in the Junior Class?

That the Senior Class has presented to the High School a "SHRINE OF THE CONSTITUTION" in honor of the Sesqui-Centennial, or 150th birthday of the constitution? It is a most beautiful display of the constitution and the declaration of independence.

That Mr. Cowles Horton is the staunchest defender of the constitution in this part of Mississippi?

That there are over 100 girls studying Home Economics in Grenada High?

That John Heath, once a star football player in Grenada, is teaching Mathematics in South Mississippi?

That Billy Mann is an outstanding student as well as football player?

That the Grenada High School and Elementary School Buildings are now equipped with automatic heaters (iron fireman) and that uniform temperature prevails throughout the day?

That the P. T. A. has equipped the basement (former band room) of the Elementary School Building with tables and benches for the convenience of rural children who bring their lunches?

That the Juniors will sponsor a class play on November 5, FROM COAST TO COAST?

That the beautiful sennias from the high school campus won a red ribbon in the flower show?

Senior Class of Grenada High Observes Constitution's Sesqui-Centennial

At the chapel hour on Wednesday, October 13, Mr. Cowles Horton, in behalf of the Senior Class, presented to the high school a beautiful Standard Shrine of the Constitution of the United States, observing the 150th birthday of the Federal Constitution.

The following letter was received by Mr. Rundle for the class:

"My Dear Mr. Rundle:
"This will acknowledge receipt of your check made payable to the Treasurer of the United States, for one standard Shrine of the Constitution which we have ordered shipped to you. We are having this shrine engraved as you requested."

"We wish to thank you and the Graduating Class of 1938 for their patriotic cooperation with the Constitution Commission's nation-wide movement to disseminate correct information regarding the constitution and to imbue in the minds of our people a higher standard of reverence for and appreciation of this immortal document."

"We are sure that this shrine will prove a permanent memorial of great historical and educational value to the faculty and students of the Grenada High School."

"Sincerely yours,

P. T. A. Membership Drive

The Executive Committee of the Parent-Teacher Association met and decided upon a membership drive for one of the first activities of this year.

Each pupil in the elementary and high school has been asked to get his mother and father to attend for the grade or class that has the largest number of votes in proportion to the number of pupils in that class or room wins a two dollar and fifty cent prize. Also, at the end of the year, the class or grade having the highest average for the whole year receives a reward of five dollars. All persons who do not have children in school are cordially invited to come and vote and help some class to win the prize.

150th Anniversary of The Constitution 1787-1937

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the Constitution of the United States was signed on September 17, 1787, and had by June 21, 1788, been ratified by the necessary number of States, and

WHEREAS George Washington was inaugurated as the first President of the United States on April 30, 1789,

NOW, THEREFORE, I Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, hereby designate the period from September 17, 1937, to April 30, 1938, as one of commemoration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing and the ratification of the Constitution and of the inauguration of the first President under that Constitution.

In commemorating this period we shall affirm our debt to those who ordained and established the Constitution "in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Property."

We shall recognize that the Constitution is an enduring instrument fit for the governing of a farflung population of more than one hundred and thirty million, engaged in diverse and varied pursuits, even as it was fit for the governing of a small agrarian Nation of less than four million. It is therefore appropriate that in the period herein set apart we shall think afresh of the founding of our Government under the Constitution, how it has served us in the past and how in the days to come its principles will guide the Nation ever forward.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this fourth day of July, in the year of Our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-second.

(Signed) Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Seniors Select Rings

On Friday, October 1, the senior ring committee chose three rings, pins, and invitations for the selection of one of each by the class. The committee consisted of Bobby Sharp, Cora Mullen, Ouida Chapius, Billy Sanders, and Ann Neely, and president, E. L. Boteler. Mr. Hendricks, representing the Herff Jones Jewelry Company was the salesman.

Each member of the class has his choice of the ring with a white gold setting or his choice of one of five stones. The synthetic ruby and spinelle are the two most expensive rings.

A class meeting was called immediately after the committee's choice. The class quickly selected their rings, pins, and invitations. Mr. Hendricks then took ring measurements for each member. The class is well pleased with its selection.

The rings should be ready for delivery about four weeks after our order is placed. All seniors will probably be flashing their class jewelry within five weeks.

Last Week's Game

Friday afternoon, October 8th, the Grenada Bulldogs defeated Batesville's eleven 6-0. Both teams played an exceptionally clean game. The only touchdown was scored in the third quarter by Charles Williams. Grenada's victory may be called Pyrrhic in as much as Charles Williams, our valuable full back, received painful injuries.

The Bulldogs' next two games will be played at home. First with Sardis (October 15), then, Senatobia (October 22).

G. H. S. Dirt

Is Lawrence still Finney-proof?

A group of girls hang around Clyde (especially Hortense), or does Clyde hang around the girls?

Why can't Susan call girls to work her geometry instead of boys? No, Suzie-pie, geometry is a bad pretense.

If Elizabeth doesn't quit burning so much gas in the afternoons, Sheriff Dogan will be the biggest taxpayer in Grenada county.

Coach, if you don't watch Bobby, he's going to slip that song that he has (Annie Doesn't Live Here Any More) in the projection machine some morning at chapel.

Shep and Boteler are using the excuse of writing on the paper to hang around the typing room in the evenings.

Who calls debate briefs brief?

Willie Lance shaved the other morning and it made him so sick that he had to miss a whole half day from school.

Whyte, why don't you give Mary Douglas a chance?

Charles Williams, the Bulldog's mascot, got mad because we called him "Pup." O. K. we apologize. He's grown, so it's "Dog."

We wonder why Billy Semmes said he didn't know what he'd do without Ann and Cora in G. Science class?

Just who is the Romeo that asked Elizabeth Brooks for a standing date on Friday night?

We are all sorry to hear about poor Frank Rose. He seems to have been bitten by the love bug and she seems to have come from College Blvd. We all sympathize for love-sick Rosie. Poor Travis.

Why was Charles Mitchell so embarrassed when he knocked a certain girl's book off of her desk?

Poor typewriters—with E. L. and Shep pecking on them every afternoon. They use the hunt and peck system.

Assembly Program

At regular assembly program, Wednesday, in the auditorium, Dick Rule, a member of our class, gave us a very interesting account of his trip through Carlsbad, Cavern, While on his vacation this summer Dick had the opportunity to visit this cave and view its many wonders. All of us envy Dick this trip. Throughout following chapel programs other students who had unusual trips during the summer will be asked to tell the student body of their experiences.

After the announcements, Mr. Rundle invited the cheer leaders to the platform for a short pep meeting. They (Ann Neely, Fred Murray, and Susan Proby) decided that they should give fifteen rhbs for good ole G. H. S.

Mr. Rundle read the scripture, Deuteronomy 4:10-17, and announced that for next chapel program his theme will be "Be Good to Yourself."

Senior Awards

The Herff-Jones Jewelry Co. has announced that its awards to the Senior Class this year will be more than doubled. Last year three awards were given by this company to outstanding Seniors. Awards in scholarship, athletics, and citizenship were given last year.

The Bulldog expresses the gratitude of the school to this company for the inspiration it gives our Seniors for putting forth their best effort.

A Thought

"This is your school. Its fortunes, good or bad, are entirely up to you. Try to make it your sincere ideal to treat everyone and everything connected with it in the same manner you would like to be treated of yourself. This is the first and greatest commandment, and all others are exactly the same."

Social Science Department

This school offers a very good course in Social Science work. Geography, World History, American History, and American Government are all included in this field of work. Two credits are required for graduation; the one in World History, and the other in American History.

History is a very profitable subject. Here are some of the reasons why a person should study history:

History renders many services. It gives us an acquaintance with the past which enables us to think intelligently about problems of today. We can profit by avoiding mistakes of others and by taking advantage of their successes.

History helps us to understand the people of all ages and times. It should broaden our sympathies and enable us to judge men's difficulties, motives and ideals fairly.

History, when properly studied, encourages us to seek the truth and give us training in finding real facts about people and events. A true historian has no prejudices. He forms his opinions only after he has made use of all the information he can get. Too many of us fail to do that.

History has great cultural value. One who knows history can talk intelligently with cultured people, can read worth-while literature, appreciate the best music and art and writings of great thinkers, and enjoy many of the finer things of life much more thoroughly than one who is not familiar with it.

The reading of history is a profitable and pleasant way to spend one's leisure time. Much of history is more thrilling than any novel, and some of the finest stories ever written are founded upon historical facts. You may meet almost face to face the great men and women of all times if you read the letters, diaries, and journals.

History helps us to set up high ideals. It talks of Biblical heroes and of those who help others to be happier and better.

History gives us a better understanding of our present day civilization and to appreciate the things that we have.

History is not static. History is always undergoing a change. As new sources of information come to light, historians must frequently revise their opinions. Today, more attention is devoted to economic and social changes—to the analysis of cultural development, rather than to the history of campaigns and dynasties.

With G. H. S. Clubs

In our school we have various clubs composing the extra curriculum activities. A special period each day is designated for the meeting of these groups.

This week special club meetings were the Music Club, the Glee Club, and the Boy Scouts.

The Music Club met in Miss Black's studio last Tuesday afternoon. This was altogether a business meeting at which new members were discussed. The next meeting will be held at Gene Marder's with Edith Penn as co-hostess, and Sue Vandiver will be in charge of the program.

The Girls' Glee Club held its first meeting of the new year last Thursday morning in the auditorium. Miss Black again took her place as director of the club. The enrollment was twenty, this number including several freshmen that we are glad to welcome. This year the girls expect to do good work and they are hoping to win first place in field meet chorus and quartet.

The Boy Scouts had a meeting Friday, October 8. The meeting began at eight o'clock in the morning in the cafeteria. Mr. Rundle and Mr. Sprattin were there. Jack Dulweber started the meeting with the Scout oath and law. Bernard Walker, assistant Scoutmaster, announced that there would be a Scout hike Saturday, October 16. The meeting was ended with the Scout prayer.

ed yourself. This is the first and greatest commandment, and all others are exactly the same."

Have You Visited Our Library?

Upon entering our Grenada High School Library, one will be greeted by Miss Sara McKibben. Miss McKibben is new here; but by her excellent work, she shows that she is well acquainted with library work.

The Grenada High School Library is one of the best libraries in the state. We have books of all kinds, such as fiction, biography, history, social science etc. Also, the library is well equipped with encyclopedias and reference books.

Some new books have just arrived and among them are Gone With the Wind, Drums in the Forest, and Rome and The Romans. More books are expected to arrive in the near future.

Among our supply of magazines, The Time, Literary Digest, Life and the American Boy are the most outstanding.

The magazines are allowed to be checked out for one day or overnight. If kept overtime, the fine is five cents. The books are checked out for one week; two cents a day every day the book is kept over time is the fine.

Girl Reserves Meet

The Girl Reserves held their regular meeting Tuesday, October 5. The main purpose was the reception of the new members into the club.

The old members were dressed in white dresses with blue triangle scarfs. Together, they formed a triangle on the stage and held lighted candles in their hands to symbolize their faith and duty to the club. Claire Weir, the president, gave a light to each member. Ann Neely, membership chairman, asked the new members for their support to the club. They then formed a circle around the triangle and Sue Rowell accepted the pledge for the new members.

The entire club joined in repeating the Girl Reserve code and then sang "Follow the Glean."

Claire Weir and Sue Vandiver gave some very interesting information concerning their trip to Gulf Park, the Girl Reserve camp, and showed some very attractive articles that they made in the arts and crafts class.

"Our Telephone Is One of Our Best Investments"

"We consider the money we pay for telephone service on our farm as an investment," says C. C. Cate, "and it certainly brings good dividends in money and time saved. By daily checking prices on farm products we are able to sell to better advantage and shop by telephone for the best prices on things we buy. Then, too, it is a great comfort to know that in emergencies the telephone is handy to summon help."

A telephone is a top-notch hired hand on any farm. It is ready to work for you twenty-four hours a day. It will make and save money for you. It will save valuable time and expensive trips. It puts you almost in arm's reach of assistance in emergencies. Town and friends are always in quick, easy reach. The farm with a telephone is never isolated. Get in touch with the nearest telephone office.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Strength During MIDDLE LIFE

Strength is extra-important for women going through the change of life. Then the body needs the very best nourishment to fortify it against the changes that are taking place. In such cases, Cardui has proved helpful to many women. It increases the appetite and aids digestion, favoring more complete transformation of food into living tissue, resulting in improved nutrition and building up and strengthening of the whole system.

Wayside News

Glad to report that little Earlene Martin is up and doing just fine, but am real sorry to report that Mr. Henry Polan was carried to the Grenada Hospital last Thursday night and was operated on for appendicitis. Last report though, he was doing just fine. Little Jesse Gahagan also has been on the sick list, having chills.

Mr. Doc Tribble, with his little seeking new enterprises for Grenada and Grenada county. He was always ready to forgive any wrong, his motto, the Golden Rule. All Grenada regretted his leaving our community, but we rejoice that he is now so pleasantly located, we delight in his articles that come out in The Sentinel from time to time.

In conclusion will say, may the remainder of his life be free from pain. A monument fair is built for him in the hearts of the people of Grenada county.

Barn Dance Features "Dixie's Own" Radio Trio

Publicly acclaimed by those who have witnessed the show in neighboring communities as the entertainment "amash" of an eternity, Ollie Hamilton's Big Radio Barn Dance starring such nationally famous radio personages as Uncle Ezra Fletcher, Lew Childre—"the boy from Alabama"—and his sidekick, Wiley "Flash" Walker, comes to Grenada on October 27th for one night performance only. Childre and Walker have been an outstanding star combination over the Dixie Network via Station W. W. L. New Orleans, for years, while the varied talent of Uncle Ezra Fletcher and the members of his Radio Gang are known to countless thousands of other fans throughout the country.

Supported by a cast of 50 people 10 big vaudeville acts—"Ponchita" and the troupe of youthful, beautiful, exquisitely gowned Rhumba dance girls—and the inimitable spring rhythm of a modern eight-piece orchestra will positively appear in person at each performance rain or shine!

Housed in its own huge waterproof tent theatre with comfortable seating capacity for 3,500 people, transported on a fleet of special built trucks and buses, and carrying facilities for the largest innovations in special scenic and lighting effects, the Ollie Hamilton Radio Barn Dance will show on the Hoffa lot on Depot Street. Doors will open at 7 p. m. The performance will start promptly at 8 o'clock. Popular prices will prevail.

In Memoriam—

C. E. Lockett

Like a thunderclap from the clear sky or a fire bell in the night, came the news of the passing of our beloved friend and brother, Charlie Lockett. The sentiments of the Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Church herein expressed are not formal resolutions, but nevertheless the deep and sincere expressed feelings of the class of which he was a most vital part.

For many years C. E. Lockett was a most faithful and active member of the Men's Bible Class of our church school. He was a member for a longer period of time than almost anyone else. He was faithful in attendance, always present unless out of town. He was enthusiastic in his class work and derived pleasure from the class programs. He was one member who studied his Sunday School Lesson and carried away with him the thought and essence of the Sunday morning hour.

The Men's Bible Class sends to the family of our departed brother assurance of deepest sympathy and love. We shall cherish his memory and not forget his virtues. The class will always feel the deepest interest in the family left behind, and we trust that the God he served will be the God of the family, individually and collectively, through all the coming years. "I know not where his Islands lift Their fringed palms in air; I only know I can not drift Beyond his love and care."

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF GRENADA COUNTY AND CITY OF GRENADA

GRENADA WILL DO WELL TO TAKE CARE OF HER OWN

Along about this time each year the South commences to have an influx of professional beggars or panhandlers from the North. In most instances these beggars are in a better financial condition than those from whom they seek alms. True, some of them are badly afflicted, unable to earn their living, but the majority of them have bank accounts in the North whence they come. We know of an instance where one of our citizens on his way to work one morning saw one of these professional beggars. He had been coming to Grenada year in and year out. This citizen offered him a business proposition. He offered to give him $25.00 for his day's receipts. The beggar said, no, I believe not. That afternoon on his way home from work this citizen asked the beggar how his business had been for the day. He replied, well, I would have lost had I taken you up this morning—I took in $27.00. And that is the way you will find it in many, many instances. The beggar made more during the day than the business man who offered to buy his receipts.

Grenada has plenty of people, and worthy, who are in need. As winter comes on we will have more. At Christmas time we will find that we have numbers and numbers of families with children and unable to supply them with Santa Claus. Why should the citizens of Grenada contribute to professional beggars when we have those in our own locality more worthy and who should have first consideration?

In many towns it is a violation of the law for anyone to seek charity without first having gone to the Mayor and secured a permit. Possibly Grenada has an ordinance of this kind, however, if we have it is not enforced, but it should be. If we do not have one, then the city council should enact one and require the officers to enforce it.

DEMAND PROTECTION FOR OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN

We are reproducing an editorial from the Commercial Appeal, "The School Bus Law," for the reason we have a similar law in Mississippi which is little respected:

Present highway rules in Tennessee call on motorists to stop for school buses that are loading or unloading, and a stiff penalty is reserved for those who fail to comply. As we understand the matter, traffic as a whole, coming or going, is supposed to come to a standstill until school children have been safely loaded into or unloaded out of their busses. This marks a change in regulations and one that is salutary and not unduly burdensome to motorists.

The plain fact is that children are not predictable and that one or more of them may make a wild dash in any direction at any moment. With the best of care and the maximum of precaution on the part of the bus drivers and teachers, there is a certain measure of peril if other vehicles pass school busses while taking on or putting off children. The delay involved will never be great, and we can say there is not one time in ten thousand when a half of a minute or so makes any material or practical difference to the motorist. The motoring public should be glad to cooperate in making assurance of child safety doubly sure, even if it amounted to some hardship, which it really does not in this instance.

Highway patrolmen, by the way, seem to us to have reason to all possible pains to acquaint the motorists with these rules regarding school busses. That is as it should be for the first purpose of the patrol is to educate people and secure their compliance with the rules with as few arrests and fines as possible. Motorists might do well to block out for school buses and observe the speed limits strictly. These rules are sensible and humane precautions to be observed as far as may be the possibility of hurting or killing school children. It is a purpose in which every good citizen can join wholeheartedly.

Somewhat or other we dislike to think it will be necessary to fine or jail any Tennessee driver for failure to comply with safety laws that guard the limbs and lives of school children, but the patrol is right to suggest the possibility of so doing if anyone fails to cooperate of his own accord.

What we would incorporate in this law is this:

"Any driver of a school bus failing to report any violation of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined not more than five hundred ($500.00) dollars, and imprisonment not exceeding six months in the county jail, or punished by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court within limitations aforesaid."

Too little consideration is given the children in our school busses. Too many people seem to be in too big a hurry to stop for thirty seconds and allow the bus to discharge its most valuable cargo. We too are in a hurry, very nearly all the time, but we have never been in too big a hurry to stop a considerable distance from a school bus when it had stopped to discharge children.

MISSISSIPPI PRESS ASSOCIATION ENTERTAINED

We attended our first Mississippi Press Association meeting on Sunday and Monday of this week as guest of the management of the Mississippi Free State Fair. We were entertained royally with a banquet Sunday night and a breakfast Monday morning at the Edwards Hotel. Monday we were entertained with luncheon held at the new Hugh White Industrial Building.

We heard many notable speakers, among them being Governor Hugh White, Mayor Walter Scott, President Norman A. Mott, and Field Manager Ralph Jones, of the Press Association, President L. A. Downs, of the Illinois Central, and I. B. Tigrett, of the Gulf, Mobile and Northern Railroads, Tom Q. Ellis, Clerk of the State Supreme Court, Stewart C. Broom, G. Garland Lyle and others. If we have failed to mention any speaker it was not our intention. We heard so many speakers, and all were very interesting, that we just should not be expected to remember all their names with the other entertainments that we were tendered.

We met many of the state's most noted editors and consider it an honor that we were afforded this opportunity. We enjoyed each and everyone of them but we believe the editor of The Durant News impressed us the most.

We hope that we will have the pleasure of attending many more Press conventions, and especially where we were entertained so royally.

KEEP YOUR SHIRT ON

There has been a regular rush of editorial support by newspapers of all political colors to the suggestion of a "quarantine" of outlaw nations that are at war. Any effort towards peace that can be aided by the United States will certainly commend general approval. But the idea that our own moral and patriotic sentiments have been insulted because Japan and China are using new weapons of warfare that make their affairs look worse than they have in the last century is not to be taken as a sure reason why we should mix up. Spain was fighting all over the World before America saw Columbus, and so was Italy, and the territory now called Germany. The question of what the United States should do about it all is full of huge complications, and the man or woman who is now ready to fly off the handle and follow some, or any, undigested plan that may be suggested, should remember how just such proceedings plunged up into the last World War. Don't form snap-judgment and—keep your shirt on.

EXTRA SESSION

Some time soon Congress will be back in Washington, grinding out laws. It is to be hoped that they will leave their rubber stamps at home.

Science Explodes Myths About Light And Seeing

IN recent years scientific research has disproved many popular fallacies connected with eyes, light, and seeing. For instance, the old notion that seeing is done with eyes alone has been thoroughly discredited by modern science, which has established the fact that seeing affects the entire body.

Using your eyes in poor light is often as tiring as digging a ditch, since even the has become dull by use and abuse; and because parts of the eye have lost some of their strength and flexibility.

Comfortable Reading

The third "myth" is the idea that one bright light on your book is all you need for safe and comfortable reading. Many a headache is caused by this improper method of lighting. The fact is that eyes are most comfortable in diffused light, without violent contrasts. When you read or work under a bright light, with semi-darkness all around you, your eyes are not only bothered with rate of your heartbeat is affected by the amount of light you have on your book or work. Experiments in the world's most famous lighting research laboratories prove that a person reading a book develops much less nervous muscular tension with 100 footcandles of light than with only one foot-candle.

Most nervous tension and wasted energy result from working in poor light. Many cases of headache and indigestion are now known to result from eyestrain due to inadequate and improper lighting.

Another Fallacy

The erroneous idea that every pair of eyes requires the same amount of light has also been dispelled by modern scientific research. The fact is that children and old people need more light

The idea that a home is well lighted just because it has electric lights is false.

If we compare nature's light with the light in the average home, the difference is astounding. Here are approximate figures:

Light outdoors on a sunny summer day—Approaches 10,000 footcandles.

Light under a shady tree on same day—Approaches 500 footcandles.

Light on a shaded porch, same day—250 footcandles.

Light next to a window, indoors on same bright day—100 footcandles.

Light in the average living room at night—Often under 5 footcandles.

It has been proved that nervous muscular tension increases as light intensity decreases, even if your eyes are doing nothing more difficult than reading a well-printed book. Proper lighting means less effort in seeing—less strain on eyes, nerves and body. It is just as necessary as proper hygiene. Liberal light and glasses are good friends.

than average adults, since a child's eyes are not fully developed until he is seven years of age or older. When a child is learning to read, he must look at each letter or word, whereas an adult reads whole phrases or sentences at a glance. Older people need more light because the pupils of the eyes have become smaller with age; because sight

Science Looks At The Human Side Of Lighting

EVERY year thousands of persons are killed because they couldn't see quickly or clearly enough. Thousands are painfully injured for the same reason. Authoritative estimates set an annual toll of $560,000,000 in fatalities, injuries and property damage resulting from night accidents on streets and highways—accidents which liberal light would have helped to prevent. To this we must add a tremendous number of fatalities and injuries in homes, factories and elsewhere—many of which are also due to poor seeing conditions. We probably spend close to a billion dollars a year for accidents which could have been prevented with better seeing conditions.

Other Losses, Too

Many persons suffer from nervous headaches, extreme fatigue and digestive disturbances due primarily to eyestrain.

You, yourself, probably know of some school pupil who lagged in his studies, because of faulty seeing, and had to repeat the work of a whole grade.

Science now tells us that the number of students who do this is very large. We also know from actual tests made in classrooms that when liberal lighting replaces inadequate and improper light, the rate of failures decreases a great deal. In fact, the cost of liberal lighting is very much less than the cost of having a student repeat a grade.

Much valuable time is lost in factories and offices because persons working in these places do not see well, or do not have enough light. Often valuable manufactured products are spoiled when they are made in poor light. Often, too, employees are discharged for mistakes that are due to the lack of proper seeing conditions. Many other tragedies, attributed to other causes, are really the result of violation of nature's laws of lighting.

One School Child in Five Has Defective Vision

When we realize that modern civilization has increased drastically

cally the severity of tasks for which our eyes were intended, it is not surprising that eye defects are so common today among persons of all ages. For example 2 out of every 10 school children, 4 out of every 10 college students and 6 out of every 10 persons over forty have defective vision.

The conservation of human resources—eyesight, health, limb, life—goes hand in hand with seeing. After all civilization is largely a world of seeing. And leading scientists now suspect that poor lighting may be at the root of many health penalties hitherto attributed to other causes.

What Can Be Done About It?

First—Make sure that your eyes are right by having them examined at regular intervals by a competent eyesight specialist. This rule applies to young and old alike.

Second—Learn the real facts about liberal light and seeing, and apply them, in your home and in business, at school and on streets and highways . . . and so help your eyes.

For rather prolonged and intense eye uses such as reading newspapers, sewing at machine, fine mending, children's homework, and similar tasks, see that your lighting is liberal enough to meet the requirements of safe and easy seeing.

Mislabeled Rye Seed Sometimes Sold as Abruzzi

J. W. Willis Asks the Aid of Growers in Stamping Out This Deception.

J. W. Willis, extension agronomist at Mississippi State College, warns farmers that many varieties of rye are still sold as Abruzzi, and asks the aid of growers in stamping out this deception. Abruzzi rye is winter hardy in Mississippi and grows upright, making good pasture and a strong growth for green manure. Many varieties of rye sometimes mislabeled as Abruzzi are winter hardy but do not have this habit of growth. Rosen rye is hardy, but has a prostrate habit of growth.

Conditions have improved in recent years. Fewer dealers are offering mislabeled rye under the name of Abruzzi. The Federal Bureau of Plant Industry has been active in enforcing the truthful labeling provisions of the Federal Seed Act which applies to all interstate shipments.

The seed of the different rye varieties are similar in appearance, so that careful farmers try when possible to buy seed from an area where Abruzzi is commonly grown. On seed from outside the State, complete labeling is an additional safeguard. Seed offered at abnormally low prices is open to suspicion. It is wise to inquire as to origin and to keep records showing representations made by the seller.

When misbranding is suspected it should be called to the attention of J. C. Holton at Jackson, who enforces the State seed law. If the shipment appears to have violated the misbranding prohibitions of the Federal Seed Act, he will be able to report the case to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for prosecution.

sign countries are now producing approximately 4 to 5 million bales more annually than the United States farmers produce.

Cotton Farmers Require Differed Legislation to Wheat, Corn, Tobacco and Rice Farmers.

The people of the United States annually consume a normal yield of corn, wheat, tobacco and rice in so far as those commodities are concerned, crop control legislation, with the ever normal granary plan, would probably prove highly beneficial to farmers chiefly in producing wheat, corn, tobacco and rice, but since cotton farmers are compelled to depend on foreign consumption and foreign markets for the sale of a large amount of their cotton, crop control legislation will not work as a permanent solution or aid to the cotton farmer in a permanent way, and especially in view of the fact that the foreign producers of cotton are annually increasing their acreage and yield.

A pall of sadness was cast over the entire state capital circle by the death of Judge William Henry Cook, associate justice of the supreme court of Mississippi, which occurred suddenly at his home in Jackson Tuesday night, October 5. Funeral services were held on Thursday at the First Baptist Church, of which he was an outstanding member. The state offices were closed from nine o'clock till one o'clock on Thursday out of respect for the deceased jurist. Judge Cook was appointed to the Supreme Bench in 1920, to succeed former Supreme Court Judge Morgan Stevens, resigned. In 1922 he was elected to the full term of eight years, commencing in January, 1924, and expiring in 1932. In 1930 he was again elected to succeed himself for the eight year term commencing with January, 1932, and his term would have expired on January 1, 1940. Judge Cook was generally known and esteemed as one of the most learned jurists in the State, and held the high esteem of all of his associates on the supreme bench, as well as all state officials and employees.

Next year is a general congressional election year, and in the same years that Congressmen are elected, the law provides that circuit judges, and chancery judges will also be elected, as well as United States senators, and supreme court judges. If the expiration of their respective terms expire prior to the next congressional election year.

Therefore, in the general election in November, 1938, Mississippi will elect seventeen circuit court judges, eleven chancery court judges, seven congressmen, and one supreme court judge. Then, there will probably be a few levee commissioners elected in the levee districts of the state, in the event that any of those terms expire at the end of next year.

Democratic candidates for all of these offices will be named in the Congressional primary election, the first primary of which will be held as the law provides, on August 23, 1938, and the second primary, if one is necessary, will be held three weeks later, or on September 13th. In Mississippi where Democrats abound, and where a nomination by the Democratic party's tantamount to election, the August primaries constitute the real elections, which determine who will serve the state or districts for the ensuing term.

Had Judge W. H. Cook lived, he would have been a candidate next year to succeed himself, and doubtless would have had no opposition. The present term that he was filling, expires in January, 1940, and Governor White has appointed Judge Harvey McGehee, of Columbia, who will serve until January 1st, 1939, this being a provision of law, that in case of a vacancy that occurs as much as nine months prior to a congressional election, that the people will name a man to assume office on the January first following his election.

Therefore, Judge McGehee will serve until the first Monday of January, 1939, and there will be two candidates for the place of supreme court judge next year—one to serve out the year of the unexpired term from January 1, 1939 to January 1, 1940, and another to fill the office for the full term of 1940-1948. It is possible for one man to be a candidate for and fill both this short and the long term.

all stocks, bonds or other securities, whether exempted by the Blue Sky laws or not, should be registered in the Secretary of State's department. The intent of this requirement is to give the Secretary of State a record of all securities that are being sold, and of those who are selling them in this State. In this way, the Secretary of State will be enabled to more rigidly enforce the Blue Sky laws of the State, and thus protect her citizens from fraudulent or unscrupulous stock salesmen.

With the proper cooperation of those people whom the stock salesmen contact, the Secretary of State, is thus enabled to apprehend any violators of the securities laws of Mississippi, and to turn the violators over to the officers of the law in the county where violations occur.

Every year, American citizens lose millions of dollars in buying fraudulent stock. Schemers or unscrupulous stock salesmen are always on the alert for the prospect who has inherited money, or received life insurance indemnity, to swindle them out of their money—in other words, they are looking for suckers, and suckers too often abound.

A very safe rule for the average citizen to follow is not to purchase except through reputable brokers or firms, duly qualified under law. Our warning is that when approached by any person selling stocks or other securities, to inquire if he has a permit issued by the Secretary of State, and if he has such permit, read same and see that it authorizes what he is offering for sale. And if he has not a permit, communicate with the Secretary of State's department and find out what the records show as to his offerings. The Secretary of State's department does not advise the purchase of any kind of stock or securities. Our advice is to read carefully all papers in connection with the transaction, take the matter up with some business man in whom you have confidence, and have him pass upon the proposition before you close a deal.

WASHINGTON PARADE

Ray Johnson and Phoebe.

Washington, D. C.—There are plentiful indications that the President's western trip has confirmed him in his belief that he knows what the people want and that, if he tries to see that they get it, they will back him up. The NRA and the AAA are due for a revival.

Two indications from widely separated parts of the country seem to support the idea that the present day political alignment is between the New Deal and the conservatives regardless of party. The first is the recent election of New Dealer Connery in Massachusetts. The second is the fight of Senator Schwelbach of Washington against Mahoney who threatens to sweep his seat on a pro-Roosevelt platform.

A further sign that the President believes he has the political strength to force issues is the threat of an extra session of Congress soon after the fall elections have clarified the situation. A special session is, of course, the very thing which opponents of the New Deal program most want to avoid because a special session is always called to resolve a definite problem in this case will undoubtedly be the farm relief.

Farm relief is, beyond question, the most important thing in the minds of the voters in the agricultural sections of the country today. If the session is called—Congress will have to produce a definite plan of aid. To beg the question or to shelve it will bring the same voters' vengeance as active opposition.

Tied to farm relief as closely as a Siamese twin is the old problem of the high cost of living. Because the winter is fairly started that is going to be the biggest issue with the city dwellers. Congress will have to act there too.

Already the situation has become so acute that the food merchants in some of the cities are faced with a buyer's strike of formidable proportions. In New York City hundreds of Kosher (Jewish) butchers have closed their stores as a protest to the wholesale meat dealers. The sale of beef throughout the whole city has fallen off to such an extent that if the price were controlled by supply and demand alone, it would have dropped twenty-five per cent.

Contracts to Be Let Soon For 470 Farmstead Units in Ark. Miss., and Louisiana

Contracts are to be let soon for the construction of 470 farmstead units, similar to the one above, in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana. The work is to be done by private contractors for carefully selected tenant farmers who will finance their new homes with individual loans advanced by the Farm Security Administration.

Each unit will consist of a modern but inexpensive four to six-room house, barn, well, chicken house, hog house and other out-buildings. They are being constructed on land which was purchased by the Resettlement Administration in the three states for the purpose of making home ownership opportunities available to farm tenant families. Each unit will occupy from 40 to 45 acres of productive land and will cost approximately $2,000.

Farmers to whom these loans are being made are of the low-income group of tenants who have displayed unusual qualifications for succeeding in home ownership.

The farmer, in qualifying for the loan, agrees to carry out a long-range program of farm and home management embracing production of food for the family, feed for the livestock, soil improvement and diversification. The FSA will furnish supervisory assistance in carrying out this program.

To finance the farmstead the occupant will execute his note covering the cost of both land and improvements, securing it with a first mortgage. He is allowed to repay the note in annual installments extending over as long as 40 years at three percent interest.

Because of the careful choice of productive land, conservative investment, liberal credit and the fact that the farm plan should increase income and eliminate hazards of one-crop farming, FSA officials are convinced that the farmer will be able to make his payments promptly and without difficulty.

Present plans call for the construction of 262 of the units in Arkansas, 39 in Louisiana and 169 in Mississippi.

Time Yet To Plant Fall Gardens

State College, Miss.—S. W. Davis, assistant extension horticulturist, reminds gardeners that there is yet time to plant radishes, onion, turnips, carrots, mustard and lettuce.

Plantings made this late, he says may not produce a normal yield, but if the soil is properly prepared and the planting carefully done the yield should be satisfactory.

Davis also reminds gardeners that the fall is a good time to destroy plant diseases and insect pests. He suggests that stalks, vines, weeds, grass and other litter that would offer a winter home for insects, be destroyed. He warns against the use of this kind of material as bedding in the barnlot because of the danger of contaminating the fertilizer which in turn would reinfest the soil if applied on the garden next spring.

He advises the removal of all cull plants left in the garden when the crop was harvested. It is also unwise to turn under tomato stalks because if wilt is present it will be distributed in the soil.

When the cleaning job has been finished, that area not planted to winter vegetables should be broken deeply and sown to a winter cover crop, using twice as many seed per area as is used on the farm. A good cover crop will prevent surface erosion and add humus when turned under in the spring.

FARM MEETINGS ON EROSION AND SOIL CONTROL

State College, Miss.—Farm meetings on land use, erosion control and soil improvement, will be held throughout North Mississippi during the last two weeks of October. E. H. White, state director of extension, announces.

Sound motion pictures showing how farmers can make wise use of their land and improve the fertility of their soil will be shown by Mississippi extension specialists at each meeting.

J. T. Copeland, extension agricultural engineer, will discuss land use and C. R. Ashford, assistant extension agricultural engineer, will talk on erosion control measures. Dan Howell, specialist in visual instruction, is in charge of the motion pictures.

The meetings which will be in charge of the local county agents will be held as follows: October 18, Elland in Calhoun county, 7 p. m.; October 19, Sturgis, 10 a. m.; New Hope, Lowndes county, 7 p. m.; October 20, Houston, 2 p. m.; Green Springs, 7 p. m.; October 21, Tupelo, 9 a. m.; Fulton, 2 p. m.; Pontotoc, 7 p. m.; October 22, Iuka, theater, 2 p. m.; Wren in Monroe county, 7 p. m.

Zion Grove News

Here we are back again, after an absence of sometime, but we are still enjoying life and The Sentinel.

Misses Irene Whitten and Inez Mitchell spent the week-end at Adam's Arbor attending the ministers' convention.

Mrs. Jessie V. Sprouse visited Saturday night and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Whitten.

Quite a crowd from here went to the convention services Sunday and Sunday night. We think everyone enjoyed the services.

Mr. Guy Howell was among the delta at the hospitable home of Mr. W. H. Gillon Sunday.

Miss Irene James was the guest of Miss Juanita Trussell Sunday night.

Little Marjorie Ann Trussell was the guest of little Martha Grace Chamberlain a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hill, Miss Ruth Hill and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nail spent Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bilbo Nail.

Mrs. Alice Trussell is visiting her sister, Miss Emogene Peoples, of Grenada, who has been sick.

Little Jimmie Tyner spent last week with her grandmother, Mrs. F. E. Gillon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Horton added their presence to the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Gillon Friday.

number of boys that left for CCC Monday.

If it be the Lord's will there will be preaching at Zion Grove Saturday night, Sunday at 11 o'clock and Sunday night. Sister Irene Whitten will deliver the message. Come and bring someone with you.

McCormick - Deering

All-Steel Hand Corn Shellers

MCCORMICK-DEERING All-Steel Hand Corn Shellers are excellent for shelling corn for seed. They produce thoroughly clean, whole kernels, in good condition for planting.

Gear teeth on the back of the picker wheel and the teeth on the pinion with which it meshes are open at the bottom to protect the kernels. Spaces between the stripper wheel teeth are extra wide to permit shelled corn to fall out readily. Each gear wheel is a separate casting, easy to replace in individual units if necessary.

The McCormick-Deering is available in 1 and 2-hole types for either hand or power drive.

COMMON SENSE TALKS ABOUT

JITNEY JUNGLE "SAVE A NICKEL ON A QUARTER" JITNEY JUNGLE

Pennies make nickels... nickels make dollars... and dollars bring wealth. At the Grenada Jitney-Jungle you can often buy an article for 9c that would cost you 10c elsewhere... or something for 19c that sells regularly for 25c. Let's take the smaller figure for an illustration. When you buy a regular 10c article from us for 9c you have saved 10%—or a PENNY that some folks say is "not worth fooling with." But say your grocery bill is $25.00 per month. That would mean that, on the same ratio, you would have saved $2.50 per month or $30.00 FOR A YEAR! Anyone will admit that $30.00 is a nice piece of change. How would you like to have someone hand you three crisp $10.00 bills to be used for your Christmas shopping at the end of the year? That's one thing that you can do with the savings possible at Jitney-Jungle. Compare our prices with other stores and take the savings that are possible through trading at Jitney-Jungle and put the money in a jar for Christmas.

Watch the paper next week for an explanation of WHY and HOW we can sell quality merchandise at such savings.
